

Helping Rio

John and Mary are friends. They live in Rio de Janeiro. They use part of their salary to help people in need.

Every month they take food and hygiene items to poor families.

This time they help more people than ever. They stay up until ver late that night helping everybody.

The next day, he wakes up very late.

Mary is also late. John picks her up on his way to work.

Later...

I can't believe we got fired. How are we going to pay the bills now?

I don't know...

We have to find a way to keep helping those people...

I have an idea!

We can create an Instagram profile to help us raise money and donations while we are unemployed.

That's a great idea!

A few days later, they got many followers and lots of people started to help.

They receive enough donations to help a few more people in the community they live close to.

They create an NGO and use their Instagram profile to get even more help.

They are interviewed by a TV newscast. That makes even more people help the NGO.
